TIMBER TRACT CASE DECISION

By the Supreme Court of Appeals in Favor of William C. Bond.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 15—Again the supreme court of appeals of West Virginia decreed in favor of William C. Bond, of Thomas, W. Va., and N. V. Bond, of Oakland, Md., in the matter of a two-thirds undivided interest in the timber on a tract of land of about 8,500 acres in Pocahontas county, this state. The interest of the Bonds in the tract was decided in the case of Bond et al vs. Taylor et al, about a year ago and the decision now relates to the sale of part of the property to satisfy a vendor's lien for about $233,000. The recent decision is in the case of Clark et al vs. Harper's Ferry Timber Company et al.

The supreme court affirmed the circuit court of Pocahontas county in the case of Bond vs. Taylor. The Pocahontas Tanning Company owned a large tract and sold a part to the Harper's Ferry Timber Company. For the purpose of developing this timber the Durbin Lumber Company was formed and was to take over title to the same. But, it turned out that Taylor had the timber company deed the timber to him, leaving the bonds on the outside. Investigation proved that Taylor was the moving spirit in the timber company and had turned the deed. This the court held as fraud and decreed Bonds the two-thirds interest.

Pending the suit of Bond vs. Taylor for the suit of Clark et al vs. Harper's Ferry Timber Company was instituted to recover on a vendor's lien. The Pocahontas Tanning Company had taken notes from the Timber Company amounting to $233,770.56, secured by lien. These notes were assigned to Harry E. Clark and John W. McCullough, dealing as Clark and McCullough. Besides the Timber company, Pocahontas Tanning Company, Durbin Lumber Company, Taylor and Bond were made defendants.

The bill was taken for confessed except as to Bonds, who appeared and petitioned that in case of a decree of sale the land and timber not purchased by them and Taylor should be sold first to satisfy the lien and then, if that was not sufficient, so much of the timber as had been purchased by them. The lower court ordered the whole tract sold and Bonds appealed.

The supreme court reversed the decree and remanded the case to the circuit court of Pocahontas county with the order to first decree the sale of the land not included in the Bond-Taylor purchase and then the latter's property or so much of it as necessary to satisfy the lien.

The question arose as to the amount to be paid in cash. The lower court fixed this at $30,000, the balance to be paid in three equal installments. This point was affirmed.

On the two points the court held as follows:

1. The purchaser of a defined part of the timber on a tract of land subject to a vendor's lien is a necessary party to a suit to enforce the lien, and, formulating the decree of sale, the court should observe the ethical rule, requiring sale of land so situated in parcels or portions, corresponding with the interests of the parties, in the reverse order of the alienation, commencing with the original vendee, if he retains any of the property.

2. In prescribing terms of sale of a large body of land to satisfy the vendor's lien of nearly $233,000 the trial court does not abuse its discretion by requiring only $30,000 of the purchase money to be paid in cash and the balance in three equal installments in one, two and three years, respectively, from the date of sale.

TO BE DEPORTED.

Three men were convicted of street drunkenness and fined $3 and costs each this morning at the usual session of police court. None of them had any money with which to pay their fines and they were remanded to jail until evening, when they will be deported. Mayor Frank R. Moore presided.
